

I am against further corporate consolidation of media outlets.

As I get older, it gets increasingly difficult to find multiple viewpoints on news stories. Also, at the current rate of radio station assimilation, I fear that future musical variety will have to be paid for, thereby becoming a commodity for the wealthy.